

AAM Regular Membership

To give voice to the generic and biosimilars industry

Ariel Leaty
Cancer Patient

We must work together to increase patient access to safe, effective and more-affordable medicines.

AAM advocates on behalf of our members, protecting and enhancing their ability to manufacture, compete and innovate.

AAM educates stakeholders — from lawmakers to the media to patients and providers — about the role of generics and biosimilars in health care.

AAM advises the government and our members how policies affect our industry and the patients we serve.

“If I didn’t have generic prescriptions, I probably wouldn’t be here.”
