

Ashli Durham

Operations Coordinator

Association for Accessible Medicines (AAM)

Ashli Durham is the Operations Coordinator for Association for Accessible Medicines. She has over 10 years of operations and administrative office management experience within the government sector, corporate retail, and the banking industry.

Her government background included grant funding and application processes for medical research with NIH (National Institute of Health) and The Head Start program with HHS (Dept of Health and Human Services). Prior to joining AAM, she held two roles within the European grocery chain Lidl, as one of their Sr. Administrative Assistants for the Director and VP of Purchasing, and a HR Generalist in the Human Resources Department.

Ashli has a Project Management Certification and is currently pursuing a bachelor's degree in computer science.